

THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH—NEWS AND ADVERTISEMENTS.

NEW CITY OF HAMPTON ROADS

What the New Railroad Company Proposes to Do.

PORTSMOUTH THE BENEFICIARY

To Reach Newport News in a Jiffy, and a Modern Seaside Resort at Pig Point, With a Great Pleasure Pier, Fine Hotels and Pavilions—Many Thousands of Dollars to Be Invested Right Here at Our Doors—The Company Has All the Money Subscribed.

Approve the Portsmouth and Newport News Railroad, in which several very prominent gentlemen of the two cities are interested, it is probably proper to say what those interested propose to do for this city and what others think of the new enterprise.

To begin with, "Pig Point" borders upon that most beautiful body of water "Hampton Roads," where all the pleasure of old ocean can be enjoyed to the utmost, without those very many disagreeable features so closely identified with immediate contact with the "briny deep."

Here the company proposes to build a town, and to give to it the proper and appropriate name of "Hampton Roads." The proposition will be backed substantially, and energy, brains and capital are behind this enterprise, which if carried out as planned, will mean more to Portsmouth than any improvement added for many years.

Several manufacturing plants and shops will be located there, as well as a fine hotel, modern pleasure pier, such as Atlantic City, N. J., boasts of, a pavilion, an up-to-date theatre, and all else that will make "Hampton Roads" an ideal summer resort.

Now, here comes the most interesting part of the whole matter, and something exceedingly rare in such large organizations and enterprises of this description, and that is this: The company asks for no contribution from the city of Portsmouth. All that it does ask is just simply the right of way to use such street or streets as may be necessary in their march of progress, subject, of course, to the usual restrictions.

Mr. Thomas W. Shelton, the efficient president of the company, is authority for the assertion that no subscriptions would be asked for either, as the entire amount necessary to carry into effect all of the proposed plans of the company have already been subscribed many times over.

He said that the company wanted to make Portsmouth its headquarters, for both railroad and land companies, which means, according to his statement, the disbursement in this city and section, within a period of ten months, the great sum of $60,000, exclusive of the large outlay of money expended in private building at "Hampton Roads," which would naturally follow.

The schedule to be run between Portsmouth, Hampton Roads and Newport News was touched upon, and the information was given that it was the determination of the company to run 15-minute trips to Hampton Roads, and 15-minute trips from Hampton Roads and Newport News, making a total of about 35 minutes.

It can readily be seen what this means for Portsmouth, as it will put this city almost within stepping distance with the city at the mouth of the James River. Our mechanics could then live at home and work in Newport News, bringing their earnings home and spending them, to the benefit of the merchants and others of our city. Shoppers would have an opportunity of coming here at will from that whole section of country, and our wholesale merchants would be practically at the very doors of the merchants all along the line.

Why, sir, the very cheapest rates possible will be given. Our interests are yours, and not a single penny more than is absolutely necessary will be charged for carrying either freight or passengers.

It is a good thing, said many gentlemen yesterday; and it was understood that the West Norfolk Land Co. and Ferry were both making bids for the railroad. Building to West Norfolk, one gentleman, would save the company the enormous expense of a bridge over the Western Branch of the Elizabeth River, as well as a great outlay for the expensive girder rails which would have to be laid in the city, aggregating, certainly as much as $50,000 saved by building only to West Norfolk.

It was also stated yesterday, and very confidently stated at that, that the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Co. was very friendly to this new movement. Just what it means is not known. But if the Chesapeake and Ohio does work friendly with this new road, it is thought to redound very much to the interest of this city. In fact, one gentleman said it was the biggest thing for Portsmouth that had yet been suggested.

Would you like to own a home, but haven't the money to pay for one? If this be the case we can furnish you one for the money you are paying out in rent every month. We have lots for sale in Park View, Port Norfolk, Pinner's Point, Cottage Place, Frontis Place, on easy terms. The Seaboard Real Estate Co., 214 High Street, upstairs.

MORRIS ROSENBAUM DEAD.

A Well-Known Clothier of This City Passes Away in New York City.

Mr. Morris Rosenbaum, one of Portsmouth's well-known clothing merchants, died yesterday morning at 1:30 o'clock in New York City, where he was stopping in hopes that his health might be benefited.

Mr. Rosenbaum was just 45 years old at the time of his death. He leaves a wife, four children and a number of brothers and sisters.

Mr. Rosenbaum came to Portsmouth in 1882, and engaged in business for Mrs. Breslauer, her husband having just died. Later he started business for himself on High street, between Middle and Crawford streets, and while there made considerable money. When Bain's Bank failed and their property was disposed of he purchased the building corner of High and Crawford streets and remodelled the same and started business there. He was very successful and accumulated considerable property, among which is the Rosenbaum building, under which there are two excellent stores with offices and a hall above.

Within the past year his health began to fail, and he was compelled to give up business to a large extent. He has been disposing of his stock, and would have closed out entirely by January 1st had he lived that long. He left here during last summer, went to New York, and was attended by some of the best physicians of that city. It was thought that he was getting better. Upon the advice of his physicians he concluded to remain in New York through the winter, and up to a week ago he was much improved, but a relapse came and he gradually grew worse until yesterday morning, when death claimed him as a victim.

Mr. Rosenbaum's brother, accompanied by Mr. Fine, the manager of the New York Clothing Company, left here last night to attend the funeral, which will be held in New York to-day.

The remains will be taken to Poughkeepsie, New York, for interment, his parents being buried there.

MARSHALL FOR GOVERNOR.

What the New York Financial Review Says About It.

In the issue of November 15th the Financial Review, a magazine devoted to banking, commerce and insurance, and published in the great city of New York, the following very complimentary notice to our townsman, Captain R. C. Marshall, is published:

"The possibility that Colonel Richard C. Marshall, of Portsmouth, Va., will become a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination in his State is already being discussed with no little interest here in the metropolis, where Colonel Marshall is known. Virginia has been so jealous as to who she places in the Governor's chair that none but the ablest and best citizens of the State appear to have the slightest chance for even a nomination, but should she decide to thus honor the Colonel she would have an executive thoroughly in keeping with her old-time custom. As a lawyer he has shown a wide range of legal knowledge, being not alone a thoroughly trained adviser, but a capable and forceful speaker who knows what to say and the manner in which it should be said. We think that the Colonel should be prevailed upon to permit the use of his name, for he would draw the full party vote and much more. In the chair he would admirably uphold the dignity of his office."

HAD SNAKES AFTER THEM.

Yesterday morning a well known white man was arrested for drunkenness. When brought before the Mayor he was found to be suffering from delirium tremens. His Honor considered it a deed of charity to commit him for five days in order that he might sober off. As soon as he had committed him Officer Cadmus brought a well known colored white-washer named Charles Allen, in, who, too, was suffering from the same trouble. Allen was standing on the street corner hallowing that snakes were after him, and that his wife had fixed him. His actions were so strange that the officer took him in. He, too, was committed for five days. Dr. Charles Culpepper, physician to the jail, was sent for, and prescribed for both.

MR. JENKINS' SON INJURED.

Yesterday afternoon Willis, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Willis A. Jenkins, met with a very serious accident, caused by the fall of a pigeon house, perched on a pole.

Willis was caught under the house and pinioned. It was thought his back had been broken, but Dr. Bindewald said he did not believe any bones had been broken. The child seemed to be suffering principally from shock.

Dr. O. C. A. Bindewald remained at the residence for some time, during which the child was unconscious.

Later it was reported that the child had regained consciousness and was not as seriously injured as was at first supposed.

ACCIDENT AT THE FERRY.

Yesterday morning shortly after 7 o'clock the steamer Norfolk County had to be taken off the line for one or two trips to adjust a valve. The Twin City was put on in her place.

A brick wagon belonging to E. W. Face, loaded with brick, started off the boat, on the Portsmouth side of the river. The boat was up high. The horse nudged and began backing. In doing so one of the large plate glass windows of a house belonging to Messrs. Thos. Scott, Sons & Co., was broken out, and a gentleman named Lucke had his leg badly hurt. He was at once sent to his home, Norfolk, where medical aid was summoned.

MR. VANDERBECK'S FUNERAL.

The funeral services of Mr. Jacob Vabriske Vanderbeck took place at the residence of his son, A. W. Vanderbeck, No. 432 Lincoln street, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, conducted by the Rev. Eggleston, of the Presbyterian Church. At the conclusion of the services the remains were interred in Oak Grove Cemetery. The following gentlemen acted as pall-bearers: W. T. Dewberry, John Simms, John Moody, Neal Williams, E. L. Pollard and Al. Smith.

CHAMPIONS OF THE SOUTH.

Is What the Baltimore American Says of the Baltimore Medical College Football Team.

To-morrow afternoon at Columbia Park Portsmouth's very excellent football team will meet the Baltimore Medical College team, of the Monumental City, which the Baltimore American of yesterday dubs the "champions of the South."

The paper referred to says: "Baltimore Medical College team has that honor. Their great victory over the football team of the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Union Park yesterday afternoon. The score was 13 to 0 in their favor. A large number of rooters present, with a good supply of mascots. Some of the best men on both teams were unable to take part."

Continuing, in the body of the article preceding the details of the game, the American says, and the American is recognized as authority in that city: "The Baltimore Medical College football eleven yesterday afternoon, at Union Park, proved themselves to be the champions of the South, by defeating the eleven of the College of Physicians and Surgeons 13 to 0."

About a thousand rooters from both colleges witnessed the game. The rooters of the physicians and surgeons arrived at Union Park about 3 o'clock two hundred strong, and with two mascots, a donkey and a dog. The game was a fierce one from start to finish, and the hard training of the Baltimore Medical College men proved a great factor. The Baltimore Medical College men played well, and deserve the title of champions of the South, which they have worked hard for during the year.

The Physicians and Surgeons have good material on their team, but they lack training and coaching. In the first part of the first half, the down town doctors had the up town doctors going, and it looked as if they would score a touch down. From this point to the finish of the game the Baltimore Medical College had little trouble in making gains and touchdowns. The Physicians and Surgeons missed the service of Bell, Rosenthal and Stick, who are out of the game. The Baltimore Medical College star players who are out of the game are Mayer, Henkel, Stott and South. The Physicians and Surgeons' men averaged about 170 pounds, while the Baltimore Medical College men weighed about 185 pounds."

Our boys appreciate to the highest degree the strong team they are to meet to-morrow and are making preparations to show the Baltimore American that the "Meds" are not champions of the South until they win from them. Portsmouth has a clever eleven, as shown in their contest with the team representing the University of Maryland, and that, too, with several star men out of the game. The "Meds" cannot justly claim to be "champions of the South" until they defeat the boys who represent this city on the gridiron.

MARTON ATKINSON WINS.

The Set of Furs Offered by Mr. W. B. Daughtrey Now Her Property. Little Marton Atkinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Atkinson, who live at 203 Washington street, was the successful competitor for the set of furs that were offered by Mr. W. B. Daughtrey to the miss who would make the most words out of his name. There were sixty-eight competitors. The following were from out of the city: Edith Bond, of Edenton, N. C.; Lillian B. Rose, of Port Norfolk; Janie Parker, of Franklin; Sarah L. More, of East Norfolk; Rosie B. Noe and Ethel Gwynn, of Newtonville; Nettie Brown and Hattie L. Wilhas, of Berkeley; Laura M. Harris, of Lynnhaven; Evelyn F. Tevilly and Virginia P. Wyatt, of Suffolk; Lillian Lunde, Alice Anderson and Casimir L. Bohm, of Norfolk. The others were all from Portsmouth.

Miss Atkinson made eleven hundred and sixty-nine (1,169) words. The others ranged from 200 up to one thousand (1,000). A number of the words were thrown out by the judges because the same letter was used twice in the word. The competition was sharp, and the little ones showed that they studied hard to win.
